(c)(2)(B) (a) If the Office of the Attorney General (OAG) receives information indicating that there has been a violation of this division, the Office of the Attorney General shall provide a written notification to the person who committed the violation, as indicated on the original complaint form. A complaint may not be withdrawn, and an OAG complaint cannot be filed as to the same offense as another OAG complaint unless and until the OAG's action with respect to the violation has been concluded. (b) If the OAG is unable to identify the person who committed the violation or has been unable to determine whether there has been a violation of this division, the OAG may institute the following procedures: (1) Upon the complaint of a victim, the Office of the Attorney General shall refer the matter to the local district attorney for investigation and prosecution. (2) If a defendant's conduct or pattern of conduct has led the OAG to believe that the defendant is a high risk for serious harm to others, the OAG may refer the matter to the appropriate State agency or to the State's domestic violence and sexual assault program established by section 2919.2 of the Revised Code for investigation. If the State's domestic violence and sexual assault program concludes that the offense is more appropriate for prosecution, the State's domestic violence and sexual assault program shall refer the case to the OAG. (3) If the OAG believes that the information received indicates that the defendant may be a high risk for serious harm to others and believes that the information is relevant to a broader pattern of conduct, the OAG may refer the matter to the appropriate State agency or to the State's domestic violence and sexual assault program. (4) If the OAG has insufficient information to make a referral under division (B)(2) or (3) of this section or if the OAG believes that further investigation is required of a matter that has already been referred to another State agency or a domestic violence and sexual assault program, the OAG may conduct its own investigation. (c) If the OAG determines that there has been a violation of this division, the OAG shall initiate or continue the prosecution of the violation and notify the district attorney of the county in which the violation occurred, in the same manner as provided 82157476af
